ODOUR CONTROL TECHNICIAN

"Dryfix Preservation have it all in order for that bad odour"

The Institute of Inspection, Cleaning, and Restoration Certification (IICRC) is pleased to announce that Russell Rafton, Surveyor for Dryfix Preservation Ltd has achieved professional recognition as a trained and qualified Odour Control Technician by undertaking training and passing examinations set by the IICRC.

Russell has again raised the standards passing the odour control examinations with an astounding 94% pass rate.

Russell Rafton joins the ranks of the true professionals within the cleaning, restoration, and inspection industry, and the IICRC welcomes his participation and continuing education.

Overjoyed with the results Russell states " Understanding odour and having the ability implement effective odour control measures will complement our other services such as; Fire and Flood Remediation and mould removal services. Bad odour is always an issue in these circumstances and being able to control the odour is another example how we at Dryfix aim to provide a complete package to our clients."

The Institute of Inspection, Cleaning & Certification (IICRC) is the world's largest certification body for the flooring inspection, floor covering and specialised fabric cleaning and disaster restoration industry.

The IICRC is a non-profit certifying and standard-setting organization dedicated to raising industry standards through technical proficiency. By administering a strict process of certification, the IICRC provides a means by which consumers can receive the highest quality of service from trained, knowledgeable, professional technicians.

Congratulations Russell

Well Done!
